

An aerial photograph of a construction site. The site is a large, flat, sandy area with several long, narrow buildings under construction. The buildings are arranged in two main rows, one on the left and one on the right. The buildings have dark roofs and some have white walls. In the center of the site, there is a large, dark, rectangular structure. Two blue rectangles with yellow borders are overlaid on the image, highlighting specific areas. The first rectangle is located in the upper left quadrant and is labeled "40 x 120". The second rectangle is located in the lower right quadrant and is also labeled "40 x 120". The text "40 x 120" is centered within each rectangle. The background shows a dense forest of green trees on the left side of the image.
